

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF IOWA
CEDAR RAPIDS DIVISION

CALVIN L. BRADFORD,

Petitioner,

vs.

JERRY BURT,

Respondent.

No. C08-0037-LRR

This matter appears before the court on the petitioner's application for a writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 (docket no. 4). On April 14, 2008, the petitioner submitted his application for a writ of habeas corpus. On April 15, 2008, the court directed the respondent to address the petitioner's claims (docket no. 3). On June 6, 2008, the respondent complied with the court's order by filing an answer (docket no. 9). On July 9, 2008, the court established a briefing schedule. On August 11, 2008, the petitioner filed a brief (docket no. 11). On September 11, 2008, the respondent filed a response brief (docket no. 12). He also submitted an appendix that included confidential information. On September 30, 2008, the petitioner filed a reply brief (docket no. 17). The court now turns to consider the petitioner's application for a writ of habeas corpus.

With respect to whether an evidentiary hearing is warranted, 28 U.S.C. § 2254(e)(2) provides:

(2) If the applicant has failed to develop the factual basis of a claim in State court proceedings, the court shall not hold an evidentiary hearing on the claim unless the applicant shows that—

(A) the claim relies on—

- (i) a new rule of constitutional law, made retroactive to cases on collateral review by the Supreme Court, that was previously unavailable; or
  - (ii) a factual predicate that could not have been previously discovered through the exercise of due diligence; and
- (B) the facts underlying the claim would be sufficient to establish by clear and convincing evidence that but for constitutional error, no reasonable fact finder would have found the applicant guilty of the underlying offense.

28 U.S.C. § 2254(e)(2). Due to the limits set forth in 28 U.S.C. § 2254(e)(2), the court concludes that an evidentiary hearing is not warranted. See Smith v. Bowersox, 311 F.3d 915, 921 (8th Cir. 2002) (discussing constraints on district court's discretion to hold an evidentiary hearing); Hall v. Luebbers, 296 F.3d 685, 700 (8th Cir. 2002) (discussing standard for conducting an evidentiary hearing under 28 U.S.C. § 2254(e)(2)); Kinder v. Bowersox, 272 F.3d 532, 542 (8th Cir. 2001) (finding it was proper for district court not to hold an evidentiary hearing because the petitioner did not meet the requirements of 28 U.S.C. § 2254(e)(2)); Parker v. Kemna, 260 F.3d 852, 854 (8th Cir. 2001) (same); Hatcher v. Hopkins, 256 F.3d 761, 764 (8th Cir. 2001) (same); cf. Johnston v. Luebbers, 288 F.3d 1048, 1058-60 (8th Cir. 2002) (assuming that 28 U.S.C. § 2254(e)(2) did not bar the district court from granting an evidentiary hearing and denying the petitioner an evidentiary hearing because such a hearing would not assist in the resolution of his claim).

With respect to the merits of the petitioner's claims, the court deems it appropriate to deny the application for a writ of habeas corpus for the reasons stated in the response brief that the respondent filed. The response brief adequately sets forth the law that is applicable to the petitioner's claim. Specifically, the respondent correctly concluded that the petitioner failed to adequately present his claim to the state courts as he is required to do if he seeks habeas corpus relief and the petitioner is not entitled to habeas relief because the ALJ did not unconstitutionally decide that the petitioner could not present certain evidence at his disciplinary hearing.

Moreover, the court concludes that the petitioner did not comply with 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b)(1)(A) and, after thoroughly reviewing the record, finds that relief is not available under either 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d)(1) or 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d)(2). In his post-conviction relief action, the petitioner argued that there was insufficient evidence to support the ALJ's decision and that the ALJ improperly relied on confidential information. The Iowa courts' analysis of the petitioner's evidentiary challenges is not an objectively unreasonable application of clearly established federal law, and the evidence was sufficient for the ALJ to find the petitioner guilty. With respect to the petitioner's claim that he was not allowed to present exculpatory evidence, the court concludes that the ALJ did not impermissibly exclude evidence relevant to the petitioner's defense. In sum, the court concludes that: (1) the Iowa courts' adjudication of the petitioner's claims neither resulted in a decision contrary to clearly established federal law nor involved an unreasonable application of clearly established federal law; and (2) the Iowa courts' rulings did not result in a decision that was based on an unreasonable determination of the facts in light of the introduced evidence. See 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d). Accordingly, the petitioner's application for a writ of habeas corpus shall be denied.

In a habeas proceeding before a district judge, the final order shall be subject to review, on appeal, by the court of appeals for the circuit in which the proceeding is held. See 28 U.S.C. § 2253(a). Unless a circuit justice or judge issues a certificate of appealability, an appeal may not be taken to the court of appeals. See 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(1)(A). A district court possesses the authority to issue certificates of appealability under 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c) and Fed. R. App. P. 22(b). See Tiedeman v. Benson, 122 F.3d 518, 522 (8th Cir. 1997). Under 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(2), a certificate of appealability may only issue if a petitioner has made a substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right. See Miller-El v. Cockrell, 537 U.S. 322, 335-36, 123 S. Ct. 1029, 154 L. Ed. 2d 931 (2003); Garrett v. United States, 211 F.3d 1075, 1076-77 (8th Cir. 2000); Carter v. Hopkins, 151 F.3d 872, 873-74 (8th Cir. 1998); Cox v. Norris, 133 F.3d 565, 569 (8th Cir. 1997); Tiedeman, 122 F.3d at 523. To make such a showing, the issues must be debatable among reasonable jurists, a court could resolve the issues differently, or the issues deserve further proceedings. Cox, 133 F.3d at 569 (citing Flieger v. Delo, 16 F.3d 878, 882-83 (8th Cir. 1994)); see also Miller-El, 537 U.S. at 335-36 (reiterating standard).

Courts reject constitutional claims either on the merits or on procedural grounds. “[W]here a district court has rejected the constitutional claims on the merits, the showing required to satisfy [28 U.S.C.] § 2253(c) is straightforward: the petitioner must demonstrate that reasonable jurists would find the district court’s assessment of the constitutional claims debatable or wrong.” Miller-El, 537 U.S. at 338 (quoting Slack v. McDaniel, 529 U.S. 473, 484, 120 S. Ct. 1595, 146 L. Ed. 2d 542 (2000)). When a federal habeas petition is dismissed on procedural grounds without reaching the underlying constitutional claim, “the [petitioner must show], at least, that jurists of reason would find it debatable whether the petition states a valid claim of the denial of a constitutional right and that jurists of reason would find it debatable whether the district court was correct in its procedural ruling.” See Slack, 529 U.S. at 484.

Having thoroughly reviewed the record in this case, the court finds that the petitioner failed to make the requisite “substantial showing” with respect to the claims he raised. See 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(2); Fed. R. App. P. 22(b). Because there is no debatable question as to the resolution of this case, an appeal is not warranted. Accordingly, the court shall not grant a certificate of appealability pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2253.

If the petitioner desires further review of his claims, he may request issuance of the certificate of appealability by a circuit judge of the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals in accordance with Tiedeman, 122 F.3d at 520-22.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED:

- 1) The petitioner's 28 U.S.C. § 2254 application (docket no. 4) is denied.
- 2) A certificate of appealability is denied.
